

Aspiring & Emerging Writers Wanted!

The Secrets of Storytelling 2026

32-week Online Creative Writing Course

A 32-week online course with award-winning author A. R. Levett is offered in 2026.

Gaining the structural tools used by best-selling authors, weekly classes will motivate you to start, or finish, that novel you want to get on the page. Working alongside peers in a supportive, encouraging environment your work will develop, layer by layer, over four structured terms.

Classes will deliver:

1. Discovery of techniques used by writing masters;
2. Examination of popular stories and how they work;
3. Development of these for your story;
4. Professional guidance for your individual story.

The course is an ongoing, 32-week commitment for new, emerging, and experienced writers to develop their stories and writing practice, with the option to join a private mentoring group upon completion. Payment options are available.

"Whether you are just beginning or are stuck in the middle of a project, this course provides flexible and powerful tools that can be adapted to any stage of the writing process to elevate your craft and build a compelling, well-structured story."

— Sandie Watts, 2023 participant

"Everything you never knew about storytelling presented in interactive sessions that build on each other to increase your understanding and improve your capacity to write with depth. You know all that stuff you didn't think applied to you? Turns out it does! Do the course." — Natalie Bock, 2024 Participant
